

He Thinks I Do Not Love Him

Charlotte Sainton-Dolby
(1821-1885)

Andante a tempo

S.  1. He thinks I do not love him, he believes each word I said, and he

Pno.  p rit.

5  sail'd a-way in sor-row ere the sun had left his bed. I'd have told the truth this morn-ing, but the 8  ship is out of sight, Oh! I wish these waves could bring him where we part-ed yes-ter-night.

Charlotte Sainton-Dolby (1821-1885) was one of the founding members of the Royal Society of Female Musicians and made her debut as a contralto with the Philharmonic Society in 1842. She toured France, the Netherlands, and Britain, where she was in demand as a ballad and oratorio singer. She composed vocal and choral works.